Tax Legislation Process

Theme 1: Your Role as a Taxpayer

Lesson 2: How Taxes Evolve

Key Terms

formal tax legislation process—The strict Constitutional steps a proposed tax bill must pass through before it becomes law.

informal tax legislation process—Individuals and interest groups expressing and promoting their opinions about tax legislation.

Summary

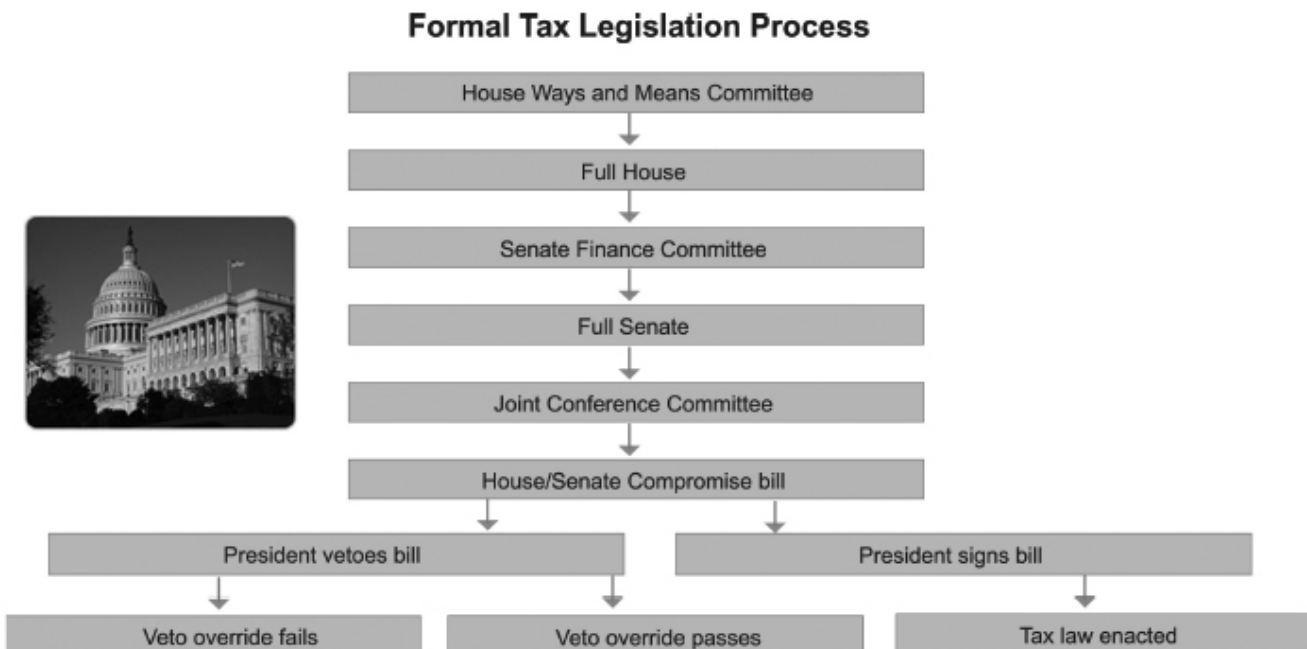

A proposed tax law, called a bill, follows specific steps through both houses of Congress. This formal tax legislation process is described in the U.S. Constitution. The informal tax legislation process is the means by which all citizens, acting individually or as representatives of groups, try to affect legislation by making their views known to legislators.

Activity 1

Use the word list to complete the flowchart below, showing the steps taken—in the correct order—for enacting a federal tax law. Some have been filled in for you.

House/Senate Compromise bill
Full Senate
President vetoes bill
Joint Conference Committee

Veto override passes

Veto override fails
House Ways and Means Committee

Activity 2

Next to the boxes in the flowchart write what citizens can do to affect the legislative process.

Answers will vary.

Activity 3

Suppose that you own a dry-cleaning business. Some people in your community are trying to enact a special environmental tax aimed at businesses that use chemicals that could pollute the local air and water. This tax would directly affect your business. A special town meeting is being planned to discuss this tax. In the space provided, outline the speech you plan to give at the town meeting.
