Healing Meals Program Overview Ceres core program Healing Meals for Healthy Communities includes the following key components 1) Supporting primarily low-income individuals dealing with serious illness with free and low-cost delivered and nutrient-rich organic meals, nutrition education, and a community of caring, 2) Involving young people as volunteer gardeners and chefs, giving them direct, hands-on experience of the difference that fresh, healthy foods and community make, and of their own capacity to contribute while building life and work-ready skills, and 3) Engaging people of all ages and from all walks as volunteers and in-kind contributors in order to connect them to others and to their value as an integral part of the community Healing Meals Program 2018 Accomplishments During 2018, Ceres Community Project provided 102,695 meals to 631 clients and their families through our Healing Meals Program A total of 431 teens were engaged in 23,990 hours of work-based learning in two organic food production gardens and three commercial kitchen operations Our program evaluation data show statistically significant improvement among clients on 8 out of 10 quality of life measures Three to six months post engagement, clients have increased fruit and vegetable consumption by 17% compared to before they participated in the program Nearly 60% have reduced the amount of fast and processed food they are eating 100% say that the meals were important to their healing, 93% report that the meals helped reduce their social isolation, helping them feel more connected to the community, 85% say that receiving the meals helped to insure that they ate even when they didnt feel like it 54% of youth in Ceres programs are eating 6+ servings of fruits and vegetables daily compared to just 22% of all California youth who are eating just 5, and 77% of youth at Ceres are confident they can prepare a healthy meal from scratch On average, youth are 40% more likely to say they feel extremely confident on 11 different culinary skills and 4 basic gardening skills Among Ceres youth alumni, 80% describe their diets at mostly whole foods and 47% are cooking from scratch 4+ times per week Healing Meals - Youth HighlightsDuring 2018 we engaged 431 youth in 23,990 hours of mentoring, healthy eating education, leadership development and job training Of these, 2,971 hours were paid job training through two programs paid work in our catering program and paid interns We paid a total of $41,040 in wages to youth 25 Youth became new Teen Leaders during the year and a total of 59 youth served as Teen Leaders Teen Leaders must complete a self-assessment on key skills needed in the kitchen and garden and then meet with a staff member and current teen leader If accepted into the program they receive a personalized chef coat and are supported with every other month leadership training and a weekend retreat We opened the Santa Rosa program site garden with shifts beginning in March 2018 Healing Meals - Client HighlightsIn addition to basic meal delivery to families in Marin and Sonoma counties with serious illness, in 2018 Ceres was involved in the development and implementation of three pilots/research studies about food as medicine We began implementation of the Congestive Heart Failure Nutrition Intervention Pilot for MediCal patients in California This project is being overseen by Department of Health Care Services and involves Ceres along with five other nonprofits across the state The program has been slow to start because we are struggling to get health care partners to refer patients We served 7 patients during 2018 We launched a formal research study with Kaiser Permanente Santa Rosa Hospital to evaluate the impact of a 8 week/14 meal per week nutrition intervention for congestive heart failure patients being discharged to home on 30 and 90 day readmission rates We worked with St Josephs Health and Redwood Empire Food Bank to design a pilot food access and nutrition education project for low-income residents of Southwest Santa Rosa with hypertension and/or diabetes The program was approved by Sonoma County Department of Health in late 2018 and will launch in February 2019 providing 12 weeks of classes, prepared meals, groceries and recipes to 20 families We also expanded capacity at our Santa Rosa program site from 40 to 53 families per week Business Changes With an intent to refocus on our core work, Ceres made two changes in business operations during 2018 In March, closed the Ceres Caf, an earned income and youth job training strategy that we launched in 2015 The Caf, while supporting visibility for our work and education about healthy eating, was not profitable and was competing for resources with our core programs Decided to scale back our Catering Program, another earned income and youth job training effort Beginning in 2019, catering will focus on Ceres fund-raising events and select community benefits This program will continue to provide paid job training for youth but will now serve Ceres exclusively rather than the broader community
