The market range is established from surveys conducted for similar positions within the same industry, company size and non-profit status (when possible comparables exist). The market ranges represent a 50% spread from the minimum to the maximum of the range and are evaluated annually. If the market shows an increase of more than 5%, the increase in the ranges are capped at two times the annual salary budgeted increase. If the market shows less than a 5% increase or a market decrease, the ranges remain the same for the upcoming year. In addition to base compensation, these positions are also eligible for incentive compensation, paid according to the employee's performance and the financial health of the organization.
