Student Services At Newberry College, learning takes place both inside and outside the classroom. No matter where a student finds themselves -- on-campus, in-town, or off-the-beaten-path -- they exchange ideas and build relationships with faculty, other students, and community members alike. Students discover the "classroom" extends far beyond ivy-covered walls to the greater Newberry community, region, and world. Students live, learn, play, and get a whole life education at Newberry. The Office of Residence Life encourages community and individual growth through effective residential programming and community involvement. We strive to create an environment that students call home and a community that feels like a family. We believe this residential culture is imperative to our mission and an important part of the learning process. We support students by providing everything students need to be successful including academic assistance, career guidance, health care, development, community service involvement, and academic excellence. Greek organizations are governed by their respective councils; IFC, NPC, and NPHC. Accessibility and affordability are paramount.

Part III, Line 4:	The Newberry College Archives-in the process of transforming a part-time effort into a formal records repository, research library, and outreach effort benefitting internal and external stakeholders-documents the history of the college, appraising, collecting, organizing, describing, and preserving records and other items of permanent institutional value; provides research assistance to administrators, faculty, staff, students, alumni, and the public; and interprets the history of Newberry College to the college community and the public. Preserving and interpreting the college's 160-year record of preparing students in the Lutheran liberal arts tradition for intellectual and personal development, meaningful vocation, and engaged citizenship makes a significant contribution to the institution's mission and helps shape its identity. Newberry College's Special Collections represent approximately 3,500 rare and unique print items donated to the library since its inception. The items represent historic assets as well as materials preserved by the library because of their scarcity, value or fragile condition. Like the archives, Newberry College's Special Collections represent the activities undertaken by the College throughout its history.
